

China and the rest of the World

- China tried hard to keep Western ideas out of China.
- The English loved tea, silks, and spices of China, and wanted to be able to trade with them. So England sent Macartney through Canton to speak with Chi'en-lung.
- England had many trading posts along the coast of India.
- Although he kept out Western ideas, Chi'en-lung could not keep out England's opium. English traders secretly smuggled opium into China.

Opium was a drug made from poppy juice, pressed into tablets or stirred into syrup. This picture shows the poppy and an opium pod. Opium pods are green or white, and poppies are white, orange, purple or red.

NEW WORDS!

Eight Regulations - the laws telling foreign merchants exactly what they could and could not do in China.

Yurt - a skin-covered tent

Kowtow - knock your head against the floor while on your hands and knees.

Opium - a drug made from poppy juice, pressed into tablets or stirred into syrup.

Serene - Not agitated; without losing self-possession.

Pernicious - Exceedingly harmful.

China and the rest of the World

- China tried hard to keep Western ideas out of China.
- The English loved tea, silks, and spices of China, and wanted to be able to trade with them. So England sent Macartney through Canton to speak with Chi'en-lung.
- England had many trading posts along the coast of India.
- Although he kept out Western ideas, Chi'en-lung could not keep out England's opium. English traders secretly smuggled opium into China.

This picture shows the poppy and an opium pod. Opium pods are green or white, and poppies are white, orange, purple or red.

NEW WORDS!

Eight Regulations - the laws telling foreign merchants exactly what they could and could not do in China.

Yurt - a skin-covered tent

Kowtow - knock your head against the floor while on your hands and knees.

Opium - a drug made from poppy juice, pressed into tablets or stirred into syrup.

Serene - Not agitated; without losing self-possession.

Pernicious - Exceedingly harmful.

China and the rest of the World

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

NEW WORDS!

Eight Regulations - the laws telling foreign merchants exactly what they could and could not do in China.

Yurt - a skin-covered tent

Kowtow - knock your head against the floor while on your hands and knees.

Opium - a drug made from poppy juice, pressed into tablets or stirred into syrup.

Serene - Not agitated; without losing self-possession.

Pernicious - Exceedingly harmful.