

Troubled Africa

- The two English traders came from England.
- The king of the Zulus allowed the traders to build a post in Durban.
- The Dutch began to settle in Cape Colony many years before the British had come.
- The English gained control of Cape Colony.
- The English outlawed slavery. This angered the Dutch Boers because the Boers relied on slavery to farm. Any Boers left Cape Colony and moved north.
- Although the English were able to take Natal from them, the Boers were able to settle the Orange Free State and the Transvaal.

Shaka and his warriors terrified the tribes throughout the south and center of Africa. The Africans called this mfecane, or the Time of Troubles.
